Paragon 360 Completes Seminole Baptist Sanctuary Renovation Project

Local Church Benefits from National Expertise

SPRINGFIELD, MO (January 27, 2017) When Seminole Baptist decided to move forward with their much-needed sanctuary renovation project in 2015, they contacted Springfield, Missouri-based Paragon 360, a turn-key design firm with a national reputation for excellence in church renovations and new building construction.

Seminole Baptist was looking to update the worship center space that was originally built in 1993. Very little had been done to the sanctuary since the original construction, and the church was interested in updating the feel of the space to be more welcoming to all generations of the congregation, in addition to people visiting the church for the first time.

This recently finished project includes new video systems, updated lighting systems, and custom scenic, staging, and architectural elements. A longtime local client, Seminole Baptist had already contracted Paragon 360 for new audio systems and the original lighting system prior to this project, and the existing audio system was integrated into the new upgrades during the renovation.

“Paragon really helped us a lot by coming in alongside us and helping us to understand what it was we wanted, who we were as a church, and what did we want this space to look like when we were done” explains Pastor Don Baier. “The end product was super. It turned out just like the renderings Paragon provided for us, and our people just fell in love with it.” Paragon 360 President & CEO, Donnie Brawner, echoed Pastor Baier’s comments, saying “the Seminole Baptist project was a real joy for us to be a part of. Partnering with such a wonderful group of people and helping make a difference in the lives of others is what we do; to do so in our own backyard with people we know makes it that much more special for our team.”
